

SPECIAL SUMMER NEWSLETTER

Aug 20 2008

Hey EVERYBODY!!! Hope summer has been good for everyone. To the people, who attended summerschool, hope that was worth the time and concentration and yall passed with F L Y I N G C O L O R S!!!! To the people who baked in the sun, travelled around the state and farther, partied harder than any party time during the school year, hope yall had a blast! Your publications, Kristina Herrrrrr and GlennCoco, did. That's for sure!!! =]. Here is a snippet of the new upcoming newsletter, Brownie Express, which will be in your hands very soooooon. =] Excited??? I know WE areeeee!!! This newsletter will be filled with entertaining and informational articles, friendly games and competitions and some other cute stuff that you'll just have to wait and see. Be prepared because this newsletter is fierceeee ^_^ . Hope you enjoy!!!

Your CUTE Publication Directors,
Kristina Herrrrrr and GlennCoco !!!!!

Summer Time Fun in the Sun

Hello Mu Zeta! I hope you all had a wonderful summer and got a lot of sun in (because Frisco has no sun in the summer). First off, I'd like to welcome you all back to another exciting and adventurous semester at Mu Zeta! Keep your eyes open because there is a lot in store for all of you to get your hands on. As your new President of Mu Zeta, I cannot express into words how excited I am to see where our journey will take us all!

This summer for all of us I'm sure has been rather interesting considering that we have not seen each other since May! With such along break, I am totally looking forward to hearing what YOU all have to say about your summer break! My summer break consisted of, helping a bit with the International Children's Game (mad props to those whovolunteered their butts off at the event), worked A LOT, hiked to the beach, dancing, clubbing, skating, meeting a TON of new people, and alot of tennis matches. This summer has been very local for me. I have not yet gone anywhere outside of the Bay Area, which is a surprise for me. I guess it's one of those summers that I realized I should be saving money than spending money, and honestly, I am okay with that. I also just moved into a place IN San Francisco with two of my buddies. YES, you will all have easy access to visiting me =). There have been a lot of physical and mental changes that occurred for me this summer, but they all reflect a positive movement in my life. It is very important during the summer to stay positive with your life; whether that be by eating right, exercise, enjoying your time with friends and family, getting outdoors, and seeing some sun.

What else have I done this summer? Oh! I have thought about Mu Zeta SOOO MUCH!! I cannot wait till we have our first General Meeting with all of you! HaHaHa.

Till next time, see you later Brothers.
-Cindy Manit

Number One Summer Fun.

Hey MZer's I hope you had a great time this summer! I had one of the best summers and I am sad that it is coming close to an end! Can you believe it? There is only exactly 1 week left until we start school! Sorry to remind you! Well, my summer was filled with hanging out with friends, my family, having sleepovers and staying up really late, working at a preschool with the cutest kids and eating too much! But there were a couple of things this summer that stuck in my mind.

Airplane watching! Since Jason works at the airport he got me interested in the different airlines. I would always bug him and ask him what does this airline logo look like? If I saw plane I would ask him "HEY who is that flying?" As time went on we started talking more and more about planes and the different airlines. We realized that we had that undiscovered love of airplanes! So this summer we decided to find the best place to go and watch planes. So we found this place right next to the airport and sit and watch planes take off and land. It's so funny because we try to figure out which airline is landing. It became kind of like a game that we played.

Sleepovers! Almost everyday for about two weeks a bunch of us would go to Chumaseo hangout and sleepover! Thanks Nikko and Glenn...you two are the best hosts! These sleepovers were super fun because we would do the most randomest things. We would color, draw, do arts and crafts, make food, watch scary movies online, play cards and many other things. I remember this one night we play extreme spoons. If any of you don't know what spoons is these are the directions: Each player starts off with 4 cards. The object of the game it to pass the cards around (and you can exchange the cards that you are given and you must only have 4 cards in your hands all times) and whoever gets a four of a kind wins and grabs the first spoon. Once you see the spoon get grabbed by the first person then you try and grab the spoon as fast as you can before they are all gone. In the pile of spoons there is one short of how many people there are. If that doesn't already sound fun, instead of putting the spoons in the middle of the circle to grab, we decided to hide the spoons in a different room, so once you were done getting your 4 of a kind or done seeing someone get a 4 of a kind you would run to the room and try to find the spoon! It was crazy!

By going to the airport all these times and just watching the planes land and take off and having the sleepovers it made me realize that I guess its the little things in life that make you happy. It doesn't have to be anything big.

Can't wait to see everyone once the school year starts! Cicily, Duc and Shella will be back too! Have a great rest of the summer everyone!

-Kristina

Reppin' the Fanny Pack.

So, summer came by fast this year and it is coming to it's end pretty quick. Hopefully, everyone got to go out of the area at least once this whole summer! I spent my days going to a month of summer school, going back and forth to Sunnyvale to be with my family, a So Cal trip, clubbing, outting with high school sweethearts and most of all, getting faaaat! Let me tell you that was the easiest job done. Cleaning the house was harder than that! >__<

One of my main highlights of this whole summer was watching America's Best Dance Crew: Season 2. Let me tell you!!! I thought it wasn't going to top season 1 but it was cutting close to it when i saw FANNY PACK! I thought they were random at first, but after watching them a couple times, they were my favorite! For everyone who doesn't watch this awesome and worth the hour or more of your time, every Thursday it's a dance crew competition that lets the best of the best from each side of the coasts compete for 100,000 dollars. Fanny Pack is from Los Angeles who got their style of clothing with vibrant color inspiration from the 80's. Their style was very different compared to everyone else's: more artistic and precise with plenty of creativity involved. They stood out like odd balls around the other break dancing, typical hip hop hitting dance crews. Shane Spark's, a pro choreographer and judge, described them as the "underdogs" of the show who, in his eyes, were going to take home the grand prize. Their performances were dynamic and full of energy!! Sooooo crazy.

It made me so sad that they went home after being eliminated in the bottom two against Sup3r Crew, a break dancing crew from Vegas. I actually teared wearing my FANNY PACK that Nikko made for me (I wore it every time a new episode was on; I'm crazy) =] Super cute. MTV should have had Fanny Pack and either SoReal Cru or Sup3r Crew stay since they are too alike. Watching the episode after Fanny Pack got eliminated, the show got boring because their styles were boring and the same since they got on the show. Fanny Pack has hit a soft spot in my heart and influenced me to try new things once again. I took a break from dancing since high school ended. I dance from time to time, but it never felt quite the same. I always told myself I'd slowly get back into dancing which is happening now, but after seeing them, I find myself getting back into it quicker and rekindling that passion in me. =] Great right? I even made a youtube video praising them and I actually got to message Beau, a member of the crew, back and forth on Myspace. It was such an honor for me to have him want more videos from me and keep it going. =] Hopefully, I can fulfill my year's goal which is to come down and meet them personally as well as take a class taught by them.

On that note, Youtube FANNY PACK DANCE CREW. They are worth your time! Also, personally, if you have given up something you used to love and always wanted to get back into it or wondered why you stopped in the first place, get back into it! It's worth the happiness.

-GlennCoco

THANK YOU FOR READING! =)